bethel town office

The U. S. Department of Agriculture Soil Conservation Service (S.C.S.), Orono, announced last week that Laurel Mining Consultants, Inc., of Kingwood, W. Va., has been awarded the contract for the Town of Bethel Flood Plain Management Study. Laurel Mining Consultants' bid of $59,113 was the lowest acceptable bid of 19 received.

"This study will acquire flood plain information along the Androscoggin River and several tributaries within the town. Resource data to be developed through this study consists of a flood hazard evaluation and flood plain maps and profiles," said S.C.S. Maine State Conservationist Ron E. Hendricks at the bid opening in Orono. Data generated by this study will be useful to the Town, the Planning Board and private citizens in the development of resource conservation plans, development measure plans, and in answering questions about where to build homes and locate businesses. "The flood plain information will also be useful to the Farmers Home Administration and insurance agencies in refining lending and insurance rates," said Hendricks.

Readers might recall that Bethel was named among the top two towns in the State with potential flooding problems (Canton was the other). This study will provide the basis for future solutions to re-continued on Page Eight

THIS WEEK AT THE MOSES MASON HOUSE

This past Saturday the Bethel Historical Society hosted the 22nd annual meeting of the Maine League of Historical Societies and Museums. The meeting was called to order by League President Dorris A. Isaacson and included a welcome by Donald G. Bennett, president of the Bethel Historical Society. The Harry W. Rowe Award for Outstanding service in the field of local history was presented by Robert M. York to Elliott N. Levy of the Moosehead Historical Society, Greenville. A special award was also presented to Dr. Hilda M. Fife, founder of the Maine Old Cemetery Association for her many years of service to that organization. As this was the annual meeting the report of the nominating committee was read and accepted. Bethel Historical Society Director Stanley R. Howe was re-elected to a three year term on the Board of Trustees of the League. Dr. Howe who also serves on the League's Program Committee introduced the part-

WOODSTOCK HISTORICAL SOC.

ANNUAL MEETING

REOUNDING SUCCESS

Mary Stearns Billings presided at the Annual Meeting of the Woodstock Historical Society on Saturday, Sept. 10. The members thanked her for their most successful year to date, during which the Museum artifacts were moved to the new building on Main Street. The Curator provided an early celebration of the Society's fifth birthday complete with cake and favors, and gave a chair for the President. Chairman of the Board Mansfield Packard presented a program on Covered Bridges with the help of Ruby Emery of the Research Committee. The most pleasant surprise of the evening came from General and Mrs. James Alger, however, who made an extremely generous contribution toward the purchase of the Society building. General and Mrs. Alger are longtime supporters of the Society and attend meetings regularly during the summer. Woodstock is Gen. Alger's boyhood home.

The following officers of the Society were elected for the 1983-84 year: President-Treasurer, Annie Crockett; Vice-President, Hazel Brooks; Secretary, Joyce Hoyt. The new Board member is Glenn Brooks. The Board re-appointed Larry A. Billings as Curator. The Chairman of the Board is Mansfield Packard and Vice-Chairman is Eva Billings Twitchell. Mrs. Louisa Noyes was appointed Assistant Curator. The fifth year of the Society is off to a resounding start.

WATER DISTRICT REPORTS RECENT IMPROVEMENTS

During this past summer the Bethel Water District installed a seven kilowatt automatic generator for its West Bethel pumping station to maintain safe water service during a power failure. The generator was installed by Water District personnel and John Greenleaf did the electrical work. The automatic feature of this generator means that the generation will start automatically if commercial power is unexpectedly lost, thus maintaining water pump operation and regular water pressure. Also during the late summer and fall, Water District personnel are continuing to install remote units on water meters. The new units are similar to many already in place, bring no additional cost to the water customers and reduce the number of man-hours required in quarterly reading of meters.

DEMOCRATIC TOWN COMM.

Anyone who wishes to take an active part in the political activities of the Democratic party at the local level is welcome to attend.

S.A.D. 44 ADULT & COMMUNITY EDUCATION

Greenwood City —

— Mrs. Colista Morgan, Corres. —

Across the country-side the summer pageant of wild flowers is drawing to a close. We now see the pinkish-purple of the joe-pye weed, massed yellow of the golden rod, and along the roadsides the violet blue of our New England asters. Soon all of these will be replaced by the glorious hues of autumn leaves.

On one of these perfect autumn days I took my boat and spent the afternoon on the ponds and the Sanborn River.

On and on the weeds, pads and grasses have extended over the surface of the pond. A bottom that is formed of mud provides these plants with their favorite habitat.

As the afternoon increased, the sky over the valley was sown with small cumulus clouds.

The forested ridges were green with only here and there an isolated spot of color. I thought of how within a few weeks all will be gaudy with the lavish hues of coming autumn.

The breeze was light and from the north west.

Just a short way up the Sanborn I noticed two king birds. They are gray and medium sized with a white border at the tip of their tail. Some of the American Indians knew them as "little chiefs" but the English settlers, fleeing from tyranny at home called them the King Bird. The naturalists dubbed them Tyrant Fly Catchers, but the first name stuck. By late August the young look enough like their parents that it's hard to distinguish the generations. They merge into flocks and then suddenly they are gone—marking another transition into fall.

Now, as I continued, there was "my" pine against the blue sky. As usual it greeted me with a nod. I stopped by the shore and came upon a moose track. A fallen tree lay shaggy in the sheathing of a green lichen and here a chipmunk had dug its burrow.

For a short time more I rowed, then turned toward home.

Right then everything appeared so peaceful and beautiful. The air was fresh and clear, while in silence, the echoes of the chirping crickets were the last sounds of the river.

Something about the autumn—

Sets ones heart a-yearning
For the days of yesteryear.
Our thoughts of them returning.
Holding each thought for a moment.

Counting their blessings sweet,
How grateful are we for Autumn days.
Which are ours for a special retreat.

Agnes Fitch Whitacre

With all the pleasant days of September there has been much to do both indoors and out. Clyde is still gathering the harvest and I try to keep up with canning and freezing. This week there have been peppers, green beans, cucumbers and tomatoes. The warmth shows that the month is not yet ready to surrender to autumn.

We had a couple of delightful surprises for Clyde's cousins, Hilda Dragon and Rowena Dunham made a call. So nice to see them.

T.T.A.E.R.S. News

(Tri-Town Ambulance & Emergency Rescue Service)

Tri Town Ambulance Personnel and their families are invited to the family picnic Sunday, Sept. 18 at 2 p. m. at the field across from Shirley Koskela's in South Woodstock.

The Tri-Town Walk-Bike-a-thon is scheduled for Sunday, Sept. 25, at 12:30 noon. The distance is five miles up Route 219 to Greenwood City and back to the Agnes Gray School in West Paris. Children need parental permission. Everyone completing the ten miles gets a Tri Town patch in appreciation for the work. Sponsor sheets can be picked up at the school offices.

A special training meeting is scheduled for Monday night, Sept. 25 with Gary Anderson, Maine Game Warden, conducting a preliminary search and rescue discussion with a Saturday follow-up in the field actually conducting an organized search.

Safety Tip of the Week

Fall is around the corner and that means its time (or past time) to be getting the wood in for the heating season. Remember a few safety tips when working in the woods: 1. Always plan an escape route before felling a tree; 2. Clear away extra brush before felling a tree; 3. Wear a helmet to protect your head; 4. Wear ear protectors to save your hearing; 5. Try not to work alone in the woods and if you must be sure someone knows exactly where you are.

CADET TO MEET SEPT. 28

An organizational meeting of CADET (Community Alcohol, Drug Education Team) will be held Wednesday, Sept. 28, at 2:30 in the conference room at Telstar Regional High School. New members are cordially invited to attend, as is anyone who is at all interested. Items to be discussed include a review of last year and plans for the coming year. There is particular interest in having new members from the communities of S.A.D. 44 join the group. If interested, but unable to attend this meeting, please call Suzanne Taylor, 824-2272, after 5 p. m.

Another surprise was a visit from Mr. and Mrs. Gary Goodwin of Shapleigh. They also visited Frank and Dot Curtis.

Two year old Jenny Holt and I took a walk on Sunday. She was interested in everything. Her folks and brothers were visiting at the farm with Leonas and Fay Holt.

David Holt was at his parents home Monday night and drove his mother and father to Boston on Tuesday where his mother saw her eye doctor. He returned to Dexter Tuesday evening.

The school bus is a familiar vehicle each day now.

The family was at the Hayes Homestead on Saturday so Doris had a friendly time.

Doris Hayes and I attended the Oxford County Retired Teachers meeting in Watford on Thursday.

The bowling league started Sunday night so Doris is "off and running" for the winter.

The Leepers were at their cottage over the week end.

Came home from Lewiston, day morning after spending of the week end with my daughter Wynona, husband Michael and little Courtney. Russell n ed help getting corn stalks out the garden and into the work ing a week away from work came up to help what he co Michael pulled the corn while Wynona started digging potatoes. When they got done, corn stalks were ready to be h ed to the dump and part of potatoes were dug. That help Russell quite a lot, and Nonie Mike had fun driving the old tr tractor. I watched Courtney while others were outside, so we w all busy. Russell brought in so broccoli and I took care of that. Wash hadn't gotten done as P go wasn't able to do it, so Tu day morning I went to town a did the wash along with a f other errands. While I was go Russell picked shell beans a was shelling them when I g home. I hurried and took care the laundry, then helped shell beans, and working together, a got them ready and into the free er. Weather wasn't too good, we decided to clean out the cu boards. We had a lot of pots a pans that we don't use, so dec ided to put them out in the yard sale. The cupboards looked a better when we got done.

Wednesday morning, Russell ha an early appointment with a do tor in town, so we were off with the early birds. I did a few errand while he was there and then w headed for Fryeburg where I ha a doctor's appointment. Didn't ge home until into the afternoon, b still had time to take the old corn stalks to the dump. I stayed home to babysit my niece's daughter, Eva Yates, for a couple of hours.

After supper, I still had a little energy left, so went up into the trailer and looked over some of my things and got them ready for the yard sale. I got a lot accom plished in a short space of time.

Was busy answering the phone Friday morning, for a while. We were expecting Michael and Wynona to come to finish digging the potatoes and they got here in the middle of the forenoon. They got that done in (jig time) as Mother would have said, then Russell picked the string beans and gave them to Nonie to take home to can or freeze. I had the fun of looking after little Courtney again.

Headed for town Friday morning to see if I could get the brakes on my car to work easier, but after waiting an hour and not being able to get anything done, I decided to wait until another day for the job. I know Russell was busy getting things ready for the sale and needed help, so went home to do what I could.

During the afternoon, Lionel and Mildred O'Blones from Bryant Pond called for a short visit. They had seen Russell's ad in the paper and wanted to be sure they knew where we lived so they could come to the sale the next day. It was a busy day with not enough hours to do what needed doing.

After breakfast on Saturday, Russell and I got busy setting up for the sale. The weather didn't look too promising, so we decided to set the tables in the carport and barn, instead of outside. As it turned out, we could have had them outside but we felt we had rather be safe instead of sorry.

During a lull in the afternoon, Russell started picking shell beans. Verna Swan of Bryant Pond came to see us and finding Rusendants of Joseph A. and LeBlanc Gallant met at the of their daughter, Isabelle t, in Wilson's Mills. Hosts occasion were the three re- ing children: Mrs. Bryant, A. Gallant Jr., of Man- r, Conn., and Mrs. Ella Bak- Anson.

— Mrs. Ralph Kimball, Corres. —

Friends and relatives here were saddened to learn of the death Sunday afternoon of Mrs. Jennie Perkins at the Lodgeview Memorial Home where she had been a pa- tient the past several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Kimball with Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Rugg enjoyed a trip touring Canada last week.

The Albany Ladies Circle held their meeting last Wednesday eve- ning at the home of Mrs. Millie Wentzell with 21 attending. A sup- per will be put on Sept. 24 to start a diocesan fund. Roberta White will be hostess for the supper.

Jesse Doyen was a patient a cou- ple of days last week at the Rum- ford hospital due to an insulin re- action.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Salway with Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Gatchell en- joyed dinner at Point Sebago one night last week.

I spent Sunday night and Mon- day at home this week end.

Mrs. Jocelyn Heath and children and Mrs. Donald Waterhouse were callers during the week of the Jimmie Kimballs.

"Do you think it could be a mere coincidence that man's best friend can't talk?"

Sally picking beans, she joined him. Many hands make less work. I'm sure Russell appreciated the help.

It seems as though there just aren't enough hours in the day at times. We decided to start shelling the beans after supper and got them all shelled while watching T.V. We got right busy and wash- ed, blanched and put in contain- ers and into the freezer. I was glad we did. That way we didn't have to get up early to do it on Sunday.

Peggy had gone to see her doc- tor at Rumford hospital Saturday morning. Her daughter Loretta Merrill of West Bethel stopped in to let us know that she had to stay. We were so tired that we put off going to see her until Sun- day.

Russell and I were both kind of weary after our day Saturday, so took it a little easy on Sunday. Russell did have to go to Newry Corner to look at the door of the Grange Hall for the Easter Reun- ion. He had helped start a car on Saturday with booster cables attached to his battery and had to have a boost on his battery Sun- day morning at the Grange Hall.

Laura and Bernard Hutchins of East Andover came Sunday after- noon to get my sofa to take to her daughter Lorene Cobb's on the Gore Road in Locke Mills. Bernard's sister Merna was with them as was Lorene's daughter Mandy. Had a time getting the sofa out of the trailer up back, but with all hands working the job was accomplished and they were on their way. After supper, Russell and I headed for Rumford to visit Peggy at the Hospital. Doc- tors don't know just exactly what the trouble is but hope she won't be there very long.

Gilead

— Louise Loring, Corres. —

Fall is really here! Oxford Coun- ty Fair opened Sunday. The carous- els are playing their tin pan alley music, the midway is all lit up with their brightly colored lights. The canopied tents stand like mon- archs amid the main sections, and the top bankers are vying for cus- tomers of their games of chance. Pink cotton candy is prevalent amongst the strollers along the midway and the smell of steamed hot dogs and fried clams, pene- trate the whole area. The exhibi- tion hall is stately with its abun- dance of canned goods, vegetables and arts and crafts and among its regal halls, folks crowd around to see which 4-H club or Grange walked away with all the blue rib- bons. The lambs, registered Here- fords and other cattle—are crowd- ed into their pavilions, with rab- bits and other prize animals. Each looks soulfully up to you, with their gentle eyes, and the proud owners are grooming, feed- ing and watering them with great care. The oval race track is being prepared for the sulky races, plus the horse and pony shows, and rodeos which are spectacular view- ing! There is something for every- one's varied interests — and the game tent, is stocked with treas- ured prizes. Where else but New England, can you and your fam- ily have such a great time—and meet all of your neighbors and friends—that you haven't seen for a long time. So as the Ferris Wheel turns—and the bullet and Whip provide thrills for the most daring — take a drive to Norway- South Paris this week—and join the fun! See you there!

Over the Labor Day week end, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Cole and children, enjoyed a camping ex- cursion to the Lone Pine Camp- grounds.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fernand Corriveau and family this past Thursday evening at a supper gathering were Myrtle Sylvester, and Nettie Shelly of North Stratford, N. H.

On Friday last, Beverly Con- neau made a trip to Augusta, pick- ing up Emily Robinson and twins at West Paris, and enjoyed touring the State Museum while there.

A TRIBUTE TO JAMES & BASIL GREEN

The world changes—and no one knows it any less, than we, its inhabitants. Little problems seem to bring much ado and we grumble about, discouraged, dissatisfied—and impatient, until overnight—our eyes are opened—sometimes in an astounding manner.

My heart goes out to a mother, who lost a son—a sister who lost her brother—and who 14 days prior to this tragic accident, had lost a father. My problems became minor ones, and groping with startling reality, I find the real meaning of the proverb—
 "I cried when I had no shoes—
 But I wept—when I saw a man with no feet."

The loss of this father and his son touched the lives of many—and for those who knew them—or for those who were merely passing acquaintances—this father and his son had endeared themselves to all, youngsters and oldsters alike. For each, in his own separate way, had contributed joy to us all—and the laughter they brought to us—and the music they both played for us brought to our hearts and lives, and will be missed by many. The world feels hollow without them.

"But we never really are at a loss," I tell myself, "for memories do not tarnish, we never really lose our friends or loved ones!" (Pondering on.)

"For the recollections of the enjoyment they brought to us—will never be forgotten so in the same token—they live on—in all of our hearts."

The most beautiful sunset I have ever seen in my entire life—underlined my thought in bold italics. The many varied hues were most intense, almost like the Northern Lights—illuminating the entire western sky—reflecting upon the many lakes and the broad river—as I rode silently homeward. Trees and buildings were etched in lacy black—and it seemed as if—the whole world was mourning their passing. But the Heavens were rejoicing—and had opened wide their portals. Instantly, as if by magic—the refrain of "Beyond the Sunset"—came to mind, and I had found my answer.

"They Live"—God bless all of their family today and always.

FRANKLIN GRANGE SHOW & SUPPER AUG. 18 A SUCCESS
A delicious country kitchen menu, some first rate vaudeville entertainment, and a capacity crowd made Bryant Pond's Franklin Grange #124 the scene of a most successful fund raising supper and show on the evening of Aug. 18.

Following the tasty supper which featured chicken casseroles, cold ham slices, a variety of fresh garden salads and vegetables, plus an assortment of home baked pies, the patrons moved to the upper floor meeting hall for the vaudeville show.

In support of the observance of program opened with an original poem by the late Alton Verrill and read by granddaughter and show director, Ernestine Riley, appropriately entitled, "Bryant Pond". John Patton, a student volunteer in the "Pride In Woodstock Week" program then pleased the audience with two saxophone solos followed by Stan Martin, wife Helen, and son Greg who teamed up on a side-splitting comedy presentation of the well-known recitation "Casey at the Bat".

Charlotte Cole continued the program with several enjoyable guitar and harmonica renditions, after which Carl Brooks impressed those present with his dancing dolls.

Kathy Doughty, Becky Imman, and Linda Stowell, accompanied by Jim Burk, then completely surprised those on hand with their innovative and skillful vocal trio selections after which Chester Hayes startled the audience with his amusing monologue of the "Old Maid and the Burglar". Den Corrin on guitar and wife Faye as leader then did a great job

MOSES MASON HOUSE

Participants for this years program including the featured speaker, Dr. Sarah F. McMahon, Assistant Professor of History, Bowdoin College, who spoke about her research in an address titled "Women's Roles in Maine, 1750-1820". Dr. McMahon described the difficulties of overcoming sexual stereotyping in history and the need to use particular sources with care since they contained many biases. She spoke eloquently of the rich sources available, many of which undoubtedly remain to be discovered or re-interpreted. Following Professor McMahon's presentation Howe introduced the commentators, Dr. Robert M. York, State Historian and Professor of History at the University of Southern Maine and Joyce Butler, historian, of the Brick Store Museum and author of a number of Maine history books including "Wildfire Loose". Both noted the lack of attention to women in Maine history and the need to change one's historical perspective in regard to this topic.

During the open forum members of the audience expressed their views and the need for more attention to the subject of women's roles in Maine history. After lunch at Bethel Inn, Margaret Joy Tibbets, Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Bethel Historical Society, continued the topic of the day by discussing memorable Bethel women, including Mary True, Mary Chase Herrick, Mari- on True Gehring and Annie Heath.

Tours of the Moses Mason Museum and a walking tour of the Broad Street Historic District completed the day.

On Sept. 24 as part of the Gould Academy Alumni Weekend the Society will again hold its annual homecoming day. In addition to the slide show, "Gould Through the Years", which will be shown at 10:30 and 2:30 in the Moses Mason Meeting room, the museum will also be open 2-4 p. m. and will be decorated with a wide variety of harvest vegetables, fruits and other examples of nature's bounty. Anyone having any thing of this type that he or she is willing to share is cordially invited to let the committee know: Gertrude Hutchins, 824-2708; Barbara Henrick Brown, 824-2080, and Sudie Vachon, 824-2787, or notify the Society office at 824-2908. All items should be at the museum between 9 and noon.

The September meeting of the Oxford County League of Historical Societies will be held on Saturday, Sept. 17, at the Universalist Church in West Sumner, beginning at 2 p. m. Hosting the organization will be Sumner Histori-

Education. This award is a prestigious honor very few students can ever hope to attain. In fact, the Academy recognizes less than 10% of all American high school students.

Getrich, who attends Manteo High School, was nominated for this National Award by Mr. Carl Lutz, business instructor at the school. Getrich will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, published nationally. The Academy selects USAA winners upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors or other school sponsors and upon the Standards of Selection set forth by the Academy. The criteria for selection are student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability, and recommendation from a teacher or director. Getrich is the daughter of Arthur and Judith Getrich. She is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Elingwood of West Paris, Maine, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kropf of Philadelphia.

Daneen has been on the honor roll all this past year. She has gone on a very long bike tour with a group of church young people and she and her brother, Nathan Getrich, worked at another Indian village this summer, helping as she did last summer. Nathan was also on the honor roll. Perhaps these outstanding young people take after their Mother, who not only has four children and her home to care for, but works full time and attends college evenings. She, too, has received top ranks in school and puts forth top performance in her work.

Remember the young girl who, last summer, worked in an Indian village to winterize their houses? Here is more news of her:

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF CO. EXTENSION MET SEPT. 6

The Executive Committee of Oxford County Extension met Tuesday evening, Sept. 6, at the home of its president, George Conant. The first item discussed concerned the University of Maine budget and its proposed cuts in Extension and the Experiment Station. George Conant, who is president of the Maine Extension Association, spoke about the public hearings he attended this summer regarding the proposed cuts. As for now, these cuts have been abandoned and the operating budget for this year will remain as approved by the State Legislature. A special thanks from the Committee was extended to George for the time and effort he spent this summer on behalf of Extension.

Oxford County Extension's budget is due for presentation to the County Commissioners sometime in early October. Therefore, the budget committee will be meeting with the county agents during the coming weeks to prepare this budget.

The annual county extension meeting will be held on Nov. 7, with the guest speaker scheduled to be Marty Ingstrom of Channel 8 and Mt. Washington weather station fame. More details are to be forthcoming. Two new executive committee members will be selected at this meeting so a nominating committee has been appointed to come up with a slate of candidates for these positions.

The Extension Agency will again have a booth at the Oxford County Fair. It will be located in the 4-H pavilion and will be attended by volunteers from the Executive Committee, as well as agents. It was also suggested that beginning in 1984, the agency start participating in North Waterford Fair.

Finally, the agency is looking for candidates for the county's outstanding farmer, homemaker, and community leader to be recognized at its annual meeting. Anyone wishing to nominate someone for any of these honors should contact Rusty Clark at the Extension Office in South Paris.

Staff members Barbara Sabin, Crystal Pineau, Amy Davis, Terry Merrill, Norma Salway, Carol Stuart, and John Freeman received training in the program during a two-day workshop in Bethel before school started in August.

All students were screened in five areas: fine motor skills, gross motor skills, language development, visual skills, and auditory skills. Staff members are in the process of evaluating the test results and planning for the educational needs of each child. Recommendations will include specific training in the skill areas, further evaluation, or differentiated placement within the school program. The involvement of parents is
